

How to Discuss Race as a White Person

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8 9

10

---

<sup>1</sup> See: sweet-tooth; AriZona Beverages

<sup>2</sup> A Peruvian-American

<sup>3</sup> Did you read the whole article?

<sup>4</sup> In all ways but name, slavery still existed nearly 70 years later in 1930 when Hamer daily picked three times her weight in cotton. She was 13.

<sup>5</sup> Crime is geographic. Why do people live where they live?

<sup>6</sup> Is this the longest you've gone without inserting your voice?

<sup>7</sup> Oppression is not a choice.

<sup>8</sup> Approx. 240 minutes, or 14400 seconds.

<sup>9</sup> See: Strange Fruit.

<sup>10</sup> You have access to Google(dot)com.

11

12

13

14

1516

17

18

19

---

<sup>11</sup> Waiting isn't listening.

<sup>12</sup> What gives me the right?

<sup>13</sup> Hamer was one of thousands of poor women of color to be sterilized without their knowledge or consent. This still happens today. This is violence.

<sup>14</sup> Their names were Sandra Bland, Kindra Chapman, Joyce Curnell, Ralkina Jones & Raynette Turner.

<sup>15</sup> What if you'd called those cops?

<sup>16</sup> What if you hadn't?

<sup>17</sup> "2015 may be one of the safest years for law enforcement in a quarter century." The Guardian.

<sup>18</sup> The number of people killed by cops this year will surpass the number of American soldiers killed in any single year since 2003. This is also true of last year.

<sup>19</sup> "Good cop" presupposes a baseline of annihilation.